JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (February 22, 2006) – The Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc., Women’s Council Northeast Florida’s Voice for Commercial Construction, is pleased to award the 2005-2006 Tina L. Hernandez Scholarship to Jennifer E. Statlick. Jennifer will graduate in April and plans on continuing her education at the University of North Florida in the MBA program. The Tina L. Hernandez Scholarship is awarded to a female student in the Building and Construction Management Program at the University of North Florida.

The mission of the ABC Women’s Council is to promote, support, encourage and provide a voice for women in the construction industry through education, professional development, legislative involvement and philanthropic endeavors. Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. (ABC) represents 23,000 merit-shop construction and construction-related firms in 79 chapters nationally. The Florida First Coast Chapter, chartered in 1993, consists of more than 150 member companies representing thousands of Northeast Florida commercial construction industry professionals.
